Winter Camp XXVI

On Guard Since 1986

December 31, 2002

New Leader

The suspense was high in the Beaver Creek building on the morning of Day Five, for it was today, some said, that a new leader would reveal himself to the assembled throngs. A leader, legend held, who would lead Winter Camp during the planet's next solar orbit, throughout the 72 lesser weekettes of the Earth year and through to Winter Camp XXVII.

The waiting crowd was not to be disappointed. Rumors of a back room deal, where the statement "I want to do what Ethan did this year." was put to a group of assembled elders, were confirmed at 10:50 AM WCST, when Zach Polifroni declared that he would be the youth to lead Winter Camp XXVII.

THE WINTER CAMP PARTICIPATION AWARD

by Frankie Righetti

This awesome award was introduced at Winter Camp XXIV. All you have to do is participate and a few other things such as baking, blind hiking, and taking a history test. Then you have the award. You get a nice golden border patch that no adults have ever touched.

There are fourteen scouts that have earned this nice award which are: At Winter Camp XXIV- Phillip Roscoe, Steve Clark, Rob Hartwig, Keith King, and Andy Whaley. At Winter Camp XXV- Zach Polifroni, Sam Stocker, Craig Summers, Jon Semetko, Ethan Rein, and Chris Wilson. The three people that have just earned this award this year are Scott McHugh, Ricky Naida, and Frankie Righetti.
